Nearly 100 TLR Airmen deploy to Southwest Asia

By Senior Airman Kaylee Clark

19th Airlift Wing Public Affairs

The 61st Airlift Squadron was filled with Airmen cherishing their final moments with their children, parents, spouses and friends before deploying to Southwest Asia May 4 at Little Rock Air Force Base.

More than 70 Airmen from the 61st AS were apart of nearly 100 who headed downrange in support of combat airlift missions. Airmen from the 19th Operation Support Squadron, 50th Airlift Squadron and 19th Medical Group were also part of this deployment rotation.

With the help of a number of Team Little Rock units, the 61st AS was able to focus their pre-deployment training for the challenges of flying in Afghanistan. The 19th Logistic Readiness Squadron helped provide engine offload training and also training with loading and unloading fuel trucks onto the aircraft which are common tasks downrange.

“The home station training prepares us to help out our brothers and sisters that are on the ground,” said Lt. Col. Eric Westby, 61st AS commander.

The revolving door of deployments for the 61st AS will continue with another rotation slated to deploy later this year.

“One of the things I mentioned

Lt. Col. Eric Westby, 61st Airlift Squadron commander, hugs his children one last time before deploying Monday at Little Rock Air Force Base. Westby, along with more than 70 other Airmen from the 61st AS, headed downrange to support combat airlift missions. See more deployment coverage on pages 10 and 11.

in the commander’s call is just having pride in this squadron,” said Westby. “This is one of the oldest airlift squadrons in the Air Force.”

Westby spoke of the history of the 61st AS explaining that the squadron dropped troops on the beach on D-day, it dropped a bridge to the Marines in the Korean War, it was involved in the Vietnam War and the squadron continues to make history making its first

C-130J deployment.

With deployments constantly recurring, the squadron’s key spouse program is essential in reaching out to the loved ones that are left behind. The program has enough involvement that one key spouse is assigned to three spouses.

“This is a very family-oriented squadron,” said Westby. “And one of my emphasis points is to take care of the spouses.”

TLR leadership lined the way to the aircraft with handshakes, fist-bumps and high-fives. In true family-oriented fashion, Westby was at the end of the line waiting for all of his Airmen to pass through before boarding the rotator himself to join his Airmen for this deployment.

MISSION SPOTLIGHT

TECH SGT. COLE STEWART

19TH LOGISTICS READINESS SQUADRON FLEET MANAGEMENT NONCOMMISSIONED OFFICER IN CHARGE

Why is your job important?

We're responsible for issuing and maintaining all government vehicles on Little Rock Air Force Base.

What is your favorite part about your job?

I like how two days are never the same, things are constantly changing and there are always new problems to solve.

What is your most memorable experience working here?

During a snowstorm, I came to base to help with the shipment of two vehicles to South Africa for a U.S. presidential visit.

What is your most significant accomplishment at Little Rock AFB?

My deployments were two big accomplishments for me as I was stationed overseas for 14 months all together.

SCORECARD: 314TH AIRLIFT WING

The 314th Airlift Wing is the nation's C-130 "Center of Excellence." The wing is responsible for training C-130 aircrew members from across the Department of Defense, to include the Coast Guard and 46 allied nations. Some of the ways the 314th AW tracks its successes are through measured aircraft availability and mission-capable rates. Those metrics as of Tuesday are:

Event honors spouse sacrifices

By Senior Airman Regina Edwards

19th Airlift Wing Public Affairs

Today the Little Rock Air Force Base Airmen and Family Readiness Center will honor the unsung heroes of the military: spouses.

The center hosts the 3rd annual Spouse Appreciation Celebration with a vendor bazaar from 5-8 p.m. in the Walters Community Support Center with several businesses showcasing their products and services by spouses for spouses.

Families from all branches of service — active duty, Guard, Reserve, or retired, are invited to enjoy the festivities.

“We hope that spouses feel encouraged and appreciated for the sacrifices they have made in support of those defending our nation.”

“We hope that spouses feel encouraged and appreciated for the sacrifices they have made in support of those defending our nation,” said Kori Ramirez, a community readiness consultant at the Airman and Family Readiness Center.

“President Ronald Reagan recognized the profound importance of spouse commitment to the readiness and well-being of military members and declared May 23, 1984, the first Military Spouse Day,” said Ramirez. “The U.S. Secretary of Defense, Caspar Weinberger, standardized the date by declaring the Friday before Mother’s Day as Military Spouse Day.”

Ramirez said students from Arthur’s Beauty College volunteered their time to provide the spa services to spouses, and more than 30 vendors have reserved booths for the bazaar tonight.

The bazaar today is designed for local and home based businesses to showcase their products and services to military spouses.

For more information, contact Ramirez at 501-987-2667.

Fall Protection focus of week

The Air Force Ground Safety Fall Protection Focus week aimed at reminding all community members of the dangers of preventable falls ends on May 15.

The initiative is a partnership with the Occupational Safety and Health Administration and National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health's campaign, "National Safety Stand-Down."

During fiscal years 2010-2014, the Air Force had 7,671 injuries from falls resulting in 44,000 lost work days at a cost of more than $30 million; which includes three fatalities. According to OSHA, over the last 10 years, more than 3,500 workers have died from falls which remains the leading cause of death in construction, accounting for more than a third of deaths in the industry.

"During fiscal years 2012-2014, Little Rock AFB had 18 mishaps contributing to falls resulting in 90 lost work days at a cost of more than $72,000," said Rick Myers, 19th Airlift Wing ground safety manager. "The proper training, appropriate equipment and work center inspections, as well as risk management techniques will assist in the reduction of these types of mishaps."

Supervisors should also conduct an in-depth review of all job safety analyses for each work task not governed by tech data or other definitive guidance and ensure all associated risks are identified and control measures are implemented to reduce potential fall mishaps.

"Fall protection or prevention is not only for activities related to heights that are encountered every day on-the-job, but also includes, for example, falls that can happen because of wet floors or obstacles on a walkway," said Bill Parsons, Air Force chief of ground safety. "We want everyone to remember that preventable falls are inexcusable and that we must continue to do all we can to protect ourselves and each other."

For more information regarding the base fall protection program, visit the 19th Airlift Wing Ground Safety Sharepoint site.

Senior Airman Scott Poe,
19th Airlift Wing Public Affairs

The quarterly Deployed Family Dinner, sponsored by the Chapel, celebrated the sacrifice of families with a Cinco de Mayo theme on Tuesday at Hangar 1080. The dinner provided an opportunity for spouses of deployed Airmen to meet others in similar situations, foster friendships and get needed support. Entertainers kept the children laughing, dancing and playing with their balloon animals, while giving parents a little break from some daily duties. For any questions pertaining to Chapel happenings call 501-987-6014.

AMC Commander reflects on his first year

By Gen. Darren McDew

Air Mobility Command

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. — To the men and women of Air Mobility Command, I can't thank you and your families enough for the hard work and sacrifices that you make each day. You are an unrivaled, Total Force team — active duty, Guard, Reserve, and civilian Airmen — and you make rapid global mobility a reality.

In the year since I took command, I've truly been impressed by what I've seen.

Since May 5th of last year, I have challenged every one of you to lead boldly, to take the initiative and to make a difference. You have surpassed my expectations by leaps and bounds. Your phenomenal dedication and commitment to excellence propels Air Mobility Command, our Air Force and our Nation.

You supported combat operations across the Southwest Asia while providing desperately needed humanitarian relief to those trapped on Mount Sinjar in Iraq and recently to citizens of Nepal. Our capabilities have been vital in the fight against ISIL in Operation Inherent Resolve. It was the Total Force mobility effort that brought home our fellow soldiers, sailors, Airmen, Marines and Coast Guardsmen from Operation Enduring Freedom while simultaneously delivering medical teams and supplies to help stop the spread of Ebola. When America depends on rapid global mobility — from the President of the United States to a wounded warrior requiring immediate movement to critical care — our nation turns to you for the unquestioned global reach that is known around the world. You are my heroes and this command's most valued resource.

You have honed a cutting-edge ability to put the 'global' in Global Vigilance, Global Reach and Global Power. That's only possible because of your ideas and innovation — and we must continue to tap into that to adapt to new challenges. With those future challenges in mind, one of my focus areas for the next year is further developing and empowering Airmen to be bold, innovative Air Force leaders. Through mentorship, education, and professional development, we must continue to invest in making each of you even better.

We must also ensure you have the tools you need to continue to provide global reach every day. Today, our nation, Allies, and Coalition partners depend on us to deliver aerial refueling — we must ensure we maximize every new capability of the KC-46A Pegasus as we continue to deliver those critical capabilities. The KC-46A is one of the Air Force's top acquisition priorities. It will benefit our nation for decades to come, and we must get it right.

Reflects

Finally, I want to continue to build broad understanding of our Airmen and their critical mission. Through 13 years of war, we have enjoyed an unprecedented level of support from the American public — they appreciate the mission you do every day, and the challenges you face. That understanding is essential to keeping us connected to the society that we protect and serve, and it sets the foundation for us to overcome the fiscal and operational challenges that lie ahead. As we continue into a very busy 2015, I challenge each of you to lead. You don't need a special duty title to lead, and it doesn't matter what rank or outfit you wear. Leadership at all levels is what makes our Air Force the best in the world.

It's my honor to serve as your commander. Thank you for your service and your commitment to our nation, our Air Force and your fellow Airmen.

NO RELEASING ANIMALS AT BASE LAKE

Each Easter more domesticated waterfowl appear at the base lake

This year 4 more white ducklings appeared the week after Easter

This happens because small ducklings are purchased for children and they soon outgrow their cuteness

There has been a 1000% increase in number of wild waterfowl

The feeding of any wildlife, including the domestic waterfowl, is not allowed at LRAFB

LRAFB HISTORY FAST FACT

TEAM LITTLE ROCK HISTORY FACT OF THE WEEK • 153 DAYS TO GO UNTIL LRAFB TURNS 60!

19th Bombardment Group aircrews participated in the Battle of Coral Sea May 4 – 8, 1942. During the battle, 19 BG crews raided enemy transportation and communication targets as well as troop concentrations while the Japanese attempted to invade New Guinea. Crews assigned to the group staged missions from multiple airfields and operated B-17s in sorties that could last up to 18 hours. The Battle of Coral Sea featured the first naval engagement fought by aircraft as the opposing ships made no contact. At the end of the battle, U.S. forces had successfully thwarted a Japanese invasion of Port Moresby, New Guinea, a location that would have allowed the Japanese to launch an invasion into Australia.
