

Brittany Boccher

1. Why did you join?

I did not join the military as an active duty service members, instead I decided to marry into the military.

2. What does Women's History Month mean to you?

Women's history month recognizes the contributions made by women throughout history. This is incredibly important to me because I have so many strong, influential women in my life. I was raised for more than half of my childhood by my mother and the majority of my mentors and those that influence me are women. I appreciate having the opportunity to honor the women of today and those of the past.

3. Name a female who has inspired you and why?

There are so many women who have inspired me in my life but my mother is the one who has been most influential and she is the woman who has made the most powerful impact on my life. Her perseverance gives me inspiration and her advice and teachings are what shaped me into the woman I am today.